Adderall 5 mg is a low-dose prescription medicine that contains a mix of amphetamine and dextroamphetamine. It is commonly prescribed to help manage Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) and sometimes narcolepsy. The medicine works by increasing certain natural chemicals in the brain that control focus, attention, and impulse control.

When used correctly, Adderall 5 mg can help people stay alert, organized, and productive throughout the day. It is often chosen as a starting or maintenance dose for those who respond well to small, steady amounts of stimulant medication.
